

FOUR RESORTS and EIGHT REASONS to ADD SKI CITY to YOUR WINTER LIST

SALT LAKE CITY, UT – In winter, Salt Lake affectionately becomes known as Ski City. This is a place where a lively downtown scene meets world-class skiing. It is a place where locals and visitors alike share the stoke of last night's storm. It is not your typical resort experience. It is so much more.

Whether you are coming with family, a group of friends or travelling solo, there are many reasons to visit Ski City. Here are the top eight. The Snow

For serious skiers, this list could start and end here. A dry, desert climate means the snow is light, fluffy and a joy to ski. Thanks to the lake effect, storms pick up extra moisture as they pass over the Great Salt Lake and drop it in the form of snow on the Cottonwood Canyons, home of Ski City's resorts.

The four resorts, Snowbird, Brighton, Solitude and Alta, average approximately 500 inches each season. Utah powder days are described with terms like "chest deep" and "hero skiing" for a reason. If you love groomers, fear not. Each night the four resorts groom a large percentage of trails to perfection.

And true to form, Mother Nature is gracing the Cottonwood resorts this winter with feet upon feet of Utah's famed powder with storms backed up to ensure fantastic skiing and riding for locals and visitors alike.

The Resorts

Utah has many great places to ski. However, these four resorts stand out for the quantity and quality of their snow, the variety of terrain, and their unique character. Some people are dedicated to just one of the four as their favorite; nevertheless, if you have never been to Ski City, you owe it to yourself to experience all four of these unique resorts.

Alta – Between the most snow in Utah and a distinct, old school vibe, it is easy to see why Alta is a longtime local favorite. Tip: After ending the day with a lap down Alf's High Rustler or High Boy, enjoy a beer on the deck of the Goldminer's Daughter. Please read more on page 2.

Snowbird – An adrenaline junkie's dream, Snowbird is known for its iconic aerial tram that takes you 3,000 vertical feet to a summit where you can access some of the best terrain in Utah. Tip: During big storms, head for the trees off the Gad 2 lift.

SNOWBIRD, UT – Overlooking Mineral Basin atop Snowbird, skiers delight in deep snow and majestic mountain views. Snowbird along with the other three Ski Salt Lake resorts - Alta, Brighton and Solitude annually receive huge amounts of Utah's famous "Greatest Snow on Earth." As of January 18, Alta led all U.S. ski areas with with 310 inches of snowfall which formed a 102 inch base.

Brighton – Arguably Utah's most laid back resort and snowboarder Mecca, Brighton is littered with terrain parks plus countless nooks and crannies waiting to be explored. Tip: If you arrive on an afternoon flight and want to hit the slopes, you are in luck: Brighton has the best night skiing in Utah.

Solitude – Solitude holds up to its name. Known for short lift lines, it is also one of the few places you can still ski powder well after lunch. Tip: On storm days, be on the lookout for Honeycomb Canyon to open – it is worth the wait.

Urban Après

There is no reason the fun has to end when the lifts stop spinning. Choose among a wide variety of restaurants; even if you are from a big city, you will be impressed with Salt Lake's food scene. In addition, it is easy to grab a drink at a downtown bar, catch a Utah Jazz NBA game or see a Broadway musical at Eccles Theater. What other ski town offers that?

Rest-day Activities

As much as we all hate to admit it, your legs might need a break if you are skiing the entire week. Ski City has all the typical urban activities you would expect, and a whole bunch of stuff you would not. Axe throwing, anyone? If you are feeling ambitious, you could even take a scenic drive to Arches National Park as Utah's famed Red Rock country is only a few hours from Ski City.

Value

In Ski City, how much you spend is really up to you. With 200-plus hotels, 2,000-plus restaurants and food trucks, there are accommodations and dining for every budget. In addition, there are other ways to save. While the holidays are high season for most resort areas, in Ski City you can find some of the best lodging rates of the year.

The Super Pass

Alta, Brighton, Snowbird and Solitude have teamed up to offer you a discounted rate on lift tickets. The Super Pass can be used at any of the four Ski City resorts, and it offers free transportation on UTA ski buses and TRAX light rail. Customize your Super Pass for three to 10 days of skiing, and skip the ticket line by purchasing online at www.skicity-superpass.com.

Access

Salt Lake City International Airport has more than 650 daily flights from over 95 non-stop destinations. It has been recognized for having more on-time arrivals than any other airport in the country. With four resorts, hundreds of hotels and thousands of restaurants all within 40 minutes, ski trip logistics have never been easier.

Ski in the Morning, Golf in the Afternoon

Seriously, you can do it. March and April can provide some of the year's best skiing, and because Ski City is 4,000 feet lower in elevation than the resorts, you can enjoy afternoon spring activities in the valley while winter is still going strong in the mountains.

"A Different Adventure Every Day" means just that and no two days in Ski City have to be the same. Welcome to a place where you can mix and match resorts, lodging, restaurants and activities to create your ultimate vacation.

Experience Ski City and Utah's "Greatest Snow on Earth" this season and learn what locals know about a great winter experience.

BE AWARE, SKI WITH CARE, KNOW THE CODE

Ski resorts can be enjoyed in many ways. At the areas you may see people using alpine, snowboard, telemark, cross country and other specialized ski equipment, such as that used by disabled or other skiers.

Observe the code listed below and share with other skiers the responsibility for a great skiing experience.

1. Always stay in control.
2. People ahead of you have the right of way.
3. Stop in a safe place for you and others.
4. Whenever starting downhill or merging, look uphill and yield.
5. Use devices to help prevent runaway equipment.
6. Observe signs and warnings, and keep off closed trails.
7. Know how to use the lifts safely.

KNOW THE CODE, IT'S YOUR RESPONSIBILITY.
(This is a partial list.)

EARLY SNOW SPUTTERED BUT THE NEW YEAR BROUGHT GOOD AMOUNTS

Just when everyone thought the Thanksgiving snow would continue, it stopped. However, skiers and snowboarders breathed a sigh of relief when big snow hit the West during Christmas week. Ski City resorts in Utah received massive amounts; enough to give Alta Ski Area (www.alta.com) a total of 310 inches and create a 102-inch base as of press time on January 19. Also, Jackson Hole (www.jacksonhole.com) received 11+ feet of record-breaking snow during the first 15 days of January. Resorts like Schweitzer (www.schweitzer.com) and Silver (www.silvermt.com) in Northern Idaho to Mt Bachelor (www.mtbachelor.com) in Oregon to Tahoe (www.sierraattahoe.com) and Mammoth Lakes California, all have great base depths on which to glide. Colorado resorts like Steamboat (www.steamboat.com) also were seeing big January storms as well.

Eastern resorts were not as lucky through Christmas Week, but the New Year saw more snowmaking temperatures in New England and later in the month, more snow was on the way both in New England and in New York and Pennsylvania. Log on to www.skiernews.com/SkiResortsEast.htm to be updated on your favorite Eastern ski area.

Predicting weather patterns are always a challenge. Let us hope that the resorts will continue to build their bases and keep skiers and snowboarders flocking to the resorts through late springtime.

Look for great deals for spring skiing and fun events, like Jackson Hole's Rendezvous festival that takes place on March 26-28. Free concerts take place in downtown Jackson at the Town Square and the grand finale at Jackson Hole Mountain Resort on March 28 features Bob Weir and the Wolf Bros. It will be pretty special.

Read more about this event and Jackson's Golden Ticket deal on page 7.

One more thing, we do not use a period to end a sentence when that sentence ends with a web address, URL. Some knuckleheads might think that the period is part of the web address! Not you, of course, but the guy who picked up the copy just before you or maybe the other guy also at the rack, but don't stare. Just in case we forgot to eliminate one, you would know better than to use the period. Thanks. Why are you still reading this fine print?
