Steamboat's Terrain and Vibe

Certainly there are bigger mountains, places where the slopes are steeper or the runs longer. However, nowhere do the various parts add up to create such an exceptional mix – one that distinctly sets Steamboat apart from the rest of the world. A mix that is rooted in a genuine friendliness and an authentic Western heritage is not often found in today's world of mega resort complexes that more closely resemble theme parks than true ski towns.

About Ski Town U.S.A.®

Steamboat was first called Ski Town in the headline of a 1947 Associated Press photo captioned, "The population of Steamboat Springs, Colorado is 1,700. The number of persons who ski is reported to be 1,685. The others are children under 1 year of age." In 1987, the Steamboat Springs Winter Sports Club registered the trademark.

About the Mountain

Located within the Park Range of the Colorado Rocky Mountains, Steamboat is comprised of six peaks: Mt. Werner, Sunshine Peak, Storm Peak, Thunderhead Peak, Christie Peak and Pioneer Ridge. The resort spans over 2,965 acres of terrain that offer a diversity of trails for all ability levels.

The gladed areas of Pioneer Ridge, Sunshine and Storm Peak are Steamboat's particular claim to fame, with Champagne Powder® snow in the trees for the powder hounds.

Easy to Get to

Steamboat is 160 miles northwest of Denver, an easy three-hour drive. Take I-70 west through the Eisenhower Tunnel to Silverthorne, exit 205, then go north on Colorado Highway 9 to the town of Kremmling, then west on US 40 over Rabbit Ears Pass.

Steamboat is accessible by nonstop air service from 16 major U.S. airports on Alaska, American, Delta, Jet Blue, Southwest and United Airlines, in addition to connecting service from over 300 other domestic and international cities.
