

ESCAPE to UNREAL WINTER ADVENTURE in MAMMOTH LAKES

MAMMOTH LAKES, CA – With Mammoth Mountain reporting an average of 400 inches of snow per season and simultaneously boasting over 300 days of sunshine, it is no wonder this destination delivers the ultimate winter getaway. Surrounded by boundless acres of breathtaking national forest, encompassing one of the biggest and best skiing and snowboarding resorts in California, Mammoth Lakes is truly a West Coast wonderland. It might sound too good to be true, but that is kind of their thing. This unreal alpine retreat will stay warm in your hearts and frozen in your memories for years to come. If you are skeptical of pristine, snow packed peaks mere hours from sunny southern California beaches, then go see it for yourself.

Everything about Mammoth Lakes is distinctly California. Where else can you barrel down a powder-soft mountain taking in views of a stunning crystalline lake while a golden sun beams against an azure sky? It is a shame you cannot capture it in a snow globe and keep it forever.

Mammoth Mountain has geography to thank for its abundant snow conditions. It is nestled into the Sierra Nevada range at an elevation of 11,053 feet, with the legendary Sierra snowpack. It is the massive collection of fresh powder that puts the slopes in a league of their own. One run down from the peak and you will be hooked and exhilarated.

When the Northeast's gray, clouded canopy is starting to wear thin, try cruising down Mammoth's magical runs under the bluebird sky. Let California's highest lifts take you to new triumphs. The aptly named Mammoth Mountain boasts a giant 3,100-foot vertical drop from the summit to the base lodge. In addition, there are 25 lifts, 175 trails and 3,500 skiable acres of unique terrain.

Whether this is your first trip or you make the pilgrimage every year, Mammoth Lakes promises new and
